Judge Mack's Good Record

The three-year-old colt race which occurred on Thursday last, at the Salisbury Fair, was won by Judge Mack, by General Mack, in three straight heats. Time, 2:24, 2:19, and 2:19. Judge Mack was driven by William J. Hall, owner of General Mack of the Glendale Stock Farm, Marion, Md. In winning this race Judge Mack made a new three-year-old colt record, for this state, as the time made by him was the best time that has ever been made by a three-year-old, in the state of Maryland, in three straight heats.

GOV. WILSON GETS $500

From Somerset Democrats And Sends Reply to Mr. Miles

A short time ago Ex-Congressman Joshua W. Miles conferred with several friends upon the subject of starting a popular subscription in Somerset county to a National Campaign Fund of the Democratic party, or in other words, a "Woodrow Wilson Campaign Fund." Mr. Miles was encouraged to believe that a fair sized sum, probably $500 could be promptly raised in $5 subscriptions, and so on Monday, August 5th, he dictated to his stenographer a note, and sent out a little more than one hundred copies of same to such of his personal friends as he thought of at the time, giving them the benefit of his patriotic thought and suggestion. By the very next mail, checks for $5 came pouring in and now then friends called at the office of Mr. Miles to subscribe to the list, and by Saturday, the 10th inst., just five days after the thought was conceived Mr. Miles had in hand the $500, he started out to procure. A check for that amount was sent by him to Governor Wilson at Sea Girt, along with the subscription list containing the names of contributors, in the form of a petition, urging Governor Wilson "to use his great influence with the Democratic National Committee and the governing bodies of the Democratic party in the various States of the Union, to the end that ways and means may be devised to afford the Democratic masses the privilege of contributing to the National Campaign Fund." Mr. Miles on Tuesday evening last received the following letter from Governor Wilson acknowledging the receipt of the $500 draft. Mr. Miles says the checks are still coming in, and he is very much encouraged to believe that a similar effort throughout the State would result in a big Maryland contribution for a "Woodrow Wilson Popular Subscription Fund."

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 12th, 1912.
My Dear Mr. Miles:
Your letter of August twelfth with its inclosure gives me the deepest gratification. Such a subscription list, made up in such a spirit, is indeed an evidence of the awakening of the people, and I feel greatly honored to be so supported and trusted. I shall send the paper on to our headquarters in the confidence that it will give as much gratification there as it has given me. I am forwarding to the treasurer of the National Committee, also the draft for $500.

Please express to all concerned my deep appreciation. I wish that I could write each of them a letter.

Cordially and sincerely yours,
WOODROW WILSON.

Public School Notes

The final meeting of the School Board, of the summer, was held last Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Mary Evans, of Crisfield, was granted a scholarship at the Maryland State Normal School. An understanding was reached in the matter of the Western Maryland College scholarship, the examination for which had resulted in a tie between Misses Gertrude Flurer and Mildred Powell, of Princess Anne, by which both young ladies will be received at the college they agreeing each to pay one-half of the usual college charges.

Arrangements were completed for enlarging the graded school building at Oriole, private citizens having agreed to assist the School Board in raising the necessary funds. The work will proceed at once. The building will be enlarged to double its present capacity and a hot water heating plant will be installed. Mr. George W. Noble, of Monie, is the contractor to remodel the building.

The list of teachers was completed with one exception, namely the principalship at Fairmount High School, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Alan W. Tull.

Miss M. Louise Windsor, of Salisbury, was appointed teacher of the commercial department of the Crisfield High School.

A two-year scholarship at the Maryland Institute of Art and Design was granted to Roy Woodland, of Crisfield.

J. Wirt Randall Dead

After an illness of several months, ex-State Senator John Wirt Randall, of Annapolis, one of the most prominent Republican attorneys in the State of Maryland, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Bladen Lownes, 301 Oakdale road, Roland Park, Friday afternoon, shortly after 2 o'clock. Death was due to stomach trouble.

ALLEN DIES OF WOUNDS

William B. Duncan Will Now Face Charge of Murder

John W. Allen, who was shot at Pocomoke City on July 10th, by William B. Duncan, died last Tuesday morning at his home in Pocomoke City from the effects of his wounds. A charge of murder has been placed against Duncan.

The shooting occurred at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station. The men had an encounter early in the morning following a quarrel, and it is said Allen drew a knife on Duncan. Bystanders stepped in and Duncan sought refuge from Allen in the store of T. B. Henderson. Later in the day Duncan appeared on the street and again encountered Allen, this time at the railroad station. Almost immediately the shooting began. The first bullet entered Allen's right shoulder and the second went into his neck, severing the spinal cord.

The funeral of Mr. Allen took place on Wednesday afternoon at his late home on Clark avenue and was conducted by Rev. W. L. S. Murray, D. D. Interment was made in the St. Mary's P. E. cemetery.

Judge Stanford also appoint the following court officers: Bailiff to the Grand Jury, Timothy J. Adams; to the Petit Jury, Edwin Pusey; to the Court, George Norman Pusey.

Rehoboth Fire Swept

The entire business section of Rehoboth, Del., was threatened last Friday night by a fire, thought to have been started by incendiaries in the cottage of Charles Horn, and communicated to the Casino Opera House and then to the Newman picture house. All were destroyed, entailing a loss variously estimated from $75,000 to $100,000. Immediately after the fire started it gained such headway that the cottagers for two or three blocks about the business section began preparing to move out. The Lewes, Del., chemical engine was hurried to the scene and the town officials sent out calls to Wilmington, Dover and Salisbury, Md., fire departments.

The fire had gained such headway before 9:30 p. m., when it was discovered, that from the beginning there was no chance to save either of the buildings which were destroyed, and only the prompt arrival of the Lewes company on the scene prevented a conflagration which has been expected for some years, because nearly all of the buildings are of wood and are of the characteristic seashore resort type.

The last session of the Legislature passed an amendment to the Automobile Law, which reads as follows: "Section 140, Acts of 1912: No person under the age of 8 years shall operate, drive or direct any automobile, motor truck propelled by gas, gasoline, steam or electricity upon any road, highway, street, lane or other public way within the State of Maryland."

FIRE AT CRISFIELD

Ice and Electric Plant Destroyed, Involving Loss of $90,000

The Crisfield Ice and Electric Company's plant and its large storage warehouse, valued at $90,000, were destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock last Thursday morning. The engineer at the plant says the fire started from an oil tank used to store fuel to run the electric light plant.

When the tank exploded burning oil was thrown to all parts of the building and the plant was soon enveloped in flames. So rapidly did the fire spread that the men in the fireroom escaped with difficulty.

A light rain, which had fallen previously, and prompt and excellent work by the Crisfield Fire Department, prevented the spread of the flames to surrounding buildings.

The schooner North Carolina, Capt. Charles Bradshaw, loaded with coal and lying at the ice plant dock was gotten away in time by use of power boats. Clarence Wright, colored, of Roanoke, Va., a deck hand on the schooner, had his thigh broken and was otherwise injured by the smoke stack falling upon him. The injured man was removed to the accident ward of the General and Marine Hospital in Crisfield where Dr. G. T. Simonson, marine surgeon at that port, attended him.

The company places its insurance at $40,000.

WOMEN TO THE FRONT

Taking Active Part In Campaigns or Three Parties

Women's activities came to the fore last Tuesday at the three campaign headquarters in New York city. The Republican National Committee announced the selection of Miss Mabel Boardman as the head of an advisory committee in charge of women's work for the re-election of President Taft, and Chairman Hillis gave notice of the appointment of Miss Helen Boswell, of New York City, as chairman of the Women's League, an auxiliary organization which will work in States that now have no suffrage.

At Democratic national headquarters one of the callers was Miss Margaret Wilson, eldest daughter of Governor Wilson. Miss Wilson, who was accompanied by Mrs. Dudley Field Malone, asked that every branch of the work at headquarters be explained to her. It was announced that Mrs. Gore, wife of Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, of New York, and the three daughters of Governor Wilson would receive women visitors at Democratic headquarters at Sea Girt, N. J.

William H. Hotchkiss, State chairman of the National Progressive party, said Miss Eleanor Carpenter, now in charge of organizing the women who are offering their services to help elect Colonel Roosevelt, had had a stream of callers, letters and telegrams throughout Tuesday. He added that Miss Carpenter received word that the Woman's Suffrage party of Indiana had endorsed the Progressive platform and adopted a resolution to work for the Progressive ticket.

Negress Electrocuted

Virginia Christian, the 17-year-old murderess of Mrs. Ida Belote, Friday morning paid the death penalty for her crime, being the first woman in the history of the State to suffer capital punishment. The negress was electrocuted at 7.23, at Richmond, Va.

The crime for which Virginia Christian paid the death penalty was one of the most brutal in Virginia crime annals. She was employed by Mrs. Ida Belote, of Hampton, Va., as a washerwoman. Last March Mrs. Belote severely reprimanded the girl for negligence in her work.

As far as official records show, no woman had ever been executed in the history of the State. But the Governor refused to be swayed on sentimental grounds and was deaf to all pleas. He granted the negress a two weeks' reprieve, but absolutely refused to extend clemency.

Salisbury Fair a Success

The Salisbury Fair was the centre of attraction the past week. It was well patronized each day and was said to have been the best meet in the history of the association. The racing was good, the exhibits fine and the attractions were more numerous than heretofore. Large crowds were in attendance from all sections of the Eastern Shore and in the list were a number of our town people. We are glad that they had a successful meet and trust that they may have many more years of success.

S. OF A. CONVENTION TO OPPOSE COVINGTON

Patriotic Order in Annual Session at Chestertown Last Week

The officers of the State Camp, P. O. S. of A., together with about 200 delegates and district presidents, arrived in Chestertown Tuesday night by boat and train ready for the seventeenth annual convention, which began last Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Chestertown High School. All the business places and many of the residences were decorated in bunting and flags. The address of welcome was delivered by State Senator William W. Beck, and the response was made by President McCleary, of Baltimore. The morning session was devoted to the nomination of officers which resulted as follows:

State president, William T. Childs, Camp 38; state vice-president, H. L. Griffith, Camp 4; master of forms, W. L. Seabrook, Camp 68; treasurer, Wm. J. Carter, Camp 3; secretary, William James Heaps, Camp 15; conductor, F. A. Cochran, Camp 54; inspector, J. J. Heiner, Camp 24; guard, C. A. Eichelberger, Camp 44; trustees, T. W. Clarke, Camp 9; J. S. Robinson, Camp 21; E. Wolf, Camp 14; C. Perkins, Camp 57; N. F. Foster, Camp 45; W. G. Davis, Camp 37.

A spirited contest for the next meeting place at the final session Thursday morning resulted in the selection of Frostburg over Annapolis and Baltimore.

The report of the state secretary William J. Heaps, shows an increase of 237 members and the number of camps the same as the last report. Four new camps were instituted, and four forfeited their charters. The total number of members is 8,185 and the number of camps, 92. The treasurer's report shows receipts of $4,650.54 for the year, and a total expenditure of $4,043.39, leaving a balance of $607.15. William James Heaps, as secretary of the Mortuary Benefit Association, reported receipts for the year of $15,162.94, and expenditures amounting to $14,134.09; balance on hand, August 1, $910.35.

Wheatley-Mitchell Wedding

At two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon August 13th, Miss Gertrude Eliza Mitchell, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Mitchell, of Laurel, Del., and Rev. Melvin Ernest Wheatley, pastor of Burrsville Methodist Episcopal Church, were married at the home of the bride—the Mt. Pleasant Methodist Episcopal parsonage, at Laurel.

Promptly at two o'clock the ribbon bearers, little Misses Lida Morris, Mildred Pusey, Elsie Holland and Florence Elzey, descended to the parlor to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, which was beautifully rendered by Miss Olive Steele, of Millville, Del., and they formed an aisle leading to a beautiful arch made of water lilies and laurel. They were followed by the maid of honor Miss Daisy Holland, of Mt. Vernon, Md., and by the best man, Mr. William L. James, of Ocean View, Del. Immediately afterward the bride and groom descended the stairs and entered the parlor where the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Mitchell, father of the bride.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white embroidered marquisette and carried white carnations, the maid of honor wore white marquisette trimmed with Irish point lace and carried pink carnations, the little ribbon bearers wore white and carried white ribbons. After the reception the happy couple left in an automobile for the home of the groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. James J. Wheatley at Oak Grove, Delaware. After August 22nd, they will be at home at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage, Burrsville, Md.

Among those present at the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Pritchett, Mrs. Joseph S. McDaniel and son, Miss Sara Lodge, of Dover, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Crossley and son, of Clayton, Del.; Mrs. Charles Elzey, Mr. Franklin Achy and daughter, Mrs. W. H. Pusey and daughter, Mrs. W. W. Sharp, Misses Sallie Sharp, Mabel Hurley and Etta Burton, of Seaford, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morris and children, Mr. and Mrs. I. Y. Wheatley and daughter, of Oak Grove; Miss Helen Green, of Norristown, Pa.; Miss Mary Kelly, of Bridgeville, Rev. G. C. Williams, of Laurel.

Fred Allen Gets 18 Years

Fred Allen, one of the mountain outlaws charged with complicity in the Hillville court house murders last March, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree last Wednesday at Wytheville, Va., and was sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary. Two others have been convicted of first degree murder and two more members of the gang are about to be tried.

Third Party to Name Candidate In First District

The following is from a special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun from Hillsboro, Maryland:

In the State-wide primaries in May no candidate was named for Congress by the Republicans in the First Maryland district, embracing the nine counties of the Eastern Shore, and now can none be brought forward under that party name, so the Roosevelt people contemplate putting up a nominee by petition to oppose Congressman Harry Covington, of Talbot, who is now running for the third time.

Covington's re-election would seem to be assured by the biggest majority ever given on the Shore, as he will poll the full Democratic strength and many straight Republicans, as against a Bull Moose man, but the few staunch Roosevelt followers in the First district believe the vote for Roosevelt would be increased with a Congressional candidate on the ticket with him.

Ever since the Civil War, the Eastern Shore district has been almost unvaryingly Democratic, only three Republicans having represented it at Washington. It was lost to the Democrats in the disaster of 1896, when Dr. Isaac H. Barber, of Talbot, was elected, and later, when Josiah L. Kerr, of Dorchester, served a few months, and Wm. H. Jackson, of Wicomico, kept it Republican for three terms. Covington beat Jackson in 1908, when the era of the Corrupt Practice act came in, crushed Abraham Lincoln Dryden, of Somerset, in 1910, and no Republican had the hardihood to aspire to a nomination this year.

As the Eastern Shore negroes, who constitute the great bulk of Republican voters in the district, have been kept well in hand by the Taft leaders, and went solidly against Roosevelt in the Presidential primaries, they cannot be relied upon by a Roosevelt candidate, especially since "T. R.'s" desertion of the race at Chicago. As a majority of the white Republicans refuse to leave Taft and the old party colors, it is certain that a third party opponent of Covington will have to chance whatever it may be to unseat him. The present Congressman is personally very popular with all the county Republican leaders, and as between him and the Roosevelt candidate there is no doubt where any of them, in picking a Congressman, would make a choice.

There is a feeling, however, in some quarters that the Taft-Roosevelt fight means the extinction of the Republican party, and by putting up a Progressive candidate for Congress in the First district a long step forward would be taken in preparing for the future by the insurgents, should the defeat of Taft turn out to be the destruction of the G. O. P. as a separate party organization.

In the next few weeks the situation will be carefully gone over and a selection made from the timber that is at hand. The Roosevelt people say there is no particular hurry, and that the middle of September will be ample time to start the Congressional campaign. By that time "Teddy" will be in the full swing of his fight, the measure of Wilson will have been taken by the voters, and a crisp method of vote-getting on the Eastern Shore mapped out. Even Parker carried the Eastern Shore in 1904, and Wilson is confidently expected to sweep it against the combined Taft and Roosevelt vote.

Internal Revenue Receipts

The State of Maryland for the fiscal year 1912 contributed in internal revenue to the federal government the sum of $7,866,724.92, this being collected in the State on spirits, cigars, etc., and the corporation tax. In all there was collected in the United States during the year the sum of $421,615,894 as internal revenue, according to the preliminary statement of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Cabell Wednesday afternoon.

Collector Phillips Lee Goldsborough turned in $2,458,247.79; Acting Collector Henry C. Dodson $1,451,200.39, and Collector John B. Hanna $5,429,705.65. Some of the money was from portions of Delaware, Virginia and the District of Columbia, which are in the Maryland collection district, but $7,866,724.92 was from the State of Maryland itself.

Astor Baby a Boy

Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, of New York City, survivor of the Titanic disaster, in which her husband, the Col. John Jacob Astor, lost his life last April, gave birth to a son at 8.15 o'clock last Wednesday morning. The new arrival has been named John Jacob Astor, after his father. The baby becomes a direct heir to $3,000,000 of the Astor fortune.

The Lady of the Mount

by FREDERIC S. ISNAM
AUTHOR OF "THE STROLLERS" "UNDER THE ROSE" ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WATERS

CHAPTER XV.

The Voice from the Group.
"No one from the household is allowed through without an order!"
"You will, however, let me pass."
"Because you have a pretty face?"

The sentinel at the great gate separating the upper part of the Mount from the town, answered roughly. "Not you, my girl, or—"

But she who importuned raised the sides of the ample linen head-dress and revealed fully her countenance.

"My Lady!" Half convinced, half incredulous, the soldier looked; stared, at features, familiar, yet seeming different, with the rebellious golden hair smoothed down severely above; the figure garbed in a Norman peasant dress, made for a costume dance when the nobles and court ladies had visited the Mount.

"You do not doubt who I am?" Importunately regarding him.

"No, my Lady; only—"

"Then open the gate!" she commanded.

The man pushed back the ponderous bolts; pressed outward the mass of oak and iron, and, puzzled, surprised, watched the girl slip through. Of course it was none of his affair, my lady's caprice, and if she chose to go masquerading among the people on such a day, when all the idle vagabonds made pretext to visit the Mount, her right to do so remained unquestioned; but, as he closed the heavy door, he shook his head. Think of the risk! Who knew what might happen in the event of her identity being revealed to certain of those in that heterogeneous concourse without?

Even at the moment through an aperture for observation in the framework to which he repaired upon adjusting the fastenings, he could see approaching a procession of noisy fanatics.

The apprehension of the soldier was, however, not shared by the girl, who, glad she had found a means to get away from the chilling atmosphere of her own world, experienced now only a sense of freedom and relief. In her tense mood, the din—the shouting and unwonted sounds—were not calculated to alarm; on the contrary, after the oppressive stillness in the great halls and chambers of the summit, they seemed welcome. Her pulses throbbed and her face still burned with the remembrance of the interview with her father, as she eyed uneasily the approaching band, led by censer and banner-bearers.

Made Merry in Heavy or Riotous Fashion.

"Vierge notre esperance—" Caught up as they swept along, she found herself without warning suddenly a part of that human stream. A natural desire to get clear from the multitude led her at first to struggle, but as well contend with the inevitable. Faces fierce, half-crazed, encompassed her; eyes that looked starved, spiritually and physically, gleamed on every side. Held as in a vise, she soon ceased to resist; suddenly deposited on a ledge, like a shell tossed up from the sea, she next became aware she was looking up toward a temporary altar, garish with bright colors.

"Etends sur nous—" Louder rose the voices; more uncontrollable became the demeanor of the people, and quickly, before the unavailing of the sacred relics had completely madened them, she managed to extricate herself from the kneeling or prostrate throng; breathless, she fled the vicinity.

Down, down! Into the heart of the village; through tortuous footpaths, where the pandering, not piteous, element held sway; where, instead of shrines and altars, had been erected booths and stands before which vendors of nondescript wares or poor trumpery vented their loquacity on the pilgrims.

"All hot! All hot!"
"A la barque! A l'ecaille!"
"La vie! Two drinks for a hard!"
"Voilà le plaisir des dames!"

The Mount, in olden times a glorious and sacred place for royal pilgrimages, where kings came to pray and seek absolution, seemed now more mart than holy spot. But those whom the petty traders sought to entice—sullen-looking peasants, or noisy eld-fishermen and their families—for the most part listened indifferently, or with stupid derision.

"Bah!" scoffed one of them, a woman dressed in worn-out costume of inherited holiday finery. "Where think you we can get sous for gewgaws?"

"Or full stomachs with empty pockets?" said another. "The foul fiend take your Portugals!"

The nomadic merchants repiled and a rough altercation seemed impending, when, pushing through the crowd, the girl hurried on.

Down, down, she continued; to the base of the rock where the sand's shining surface had attracted and yet held many of the people. Thither they still continued to come—in bands; processions; little streams that, trickling in, mingled with and augmented the rabble. An encampment for the hour—until the "petite" tide should break it up, and drive it piecemeal to the shore or up the sides of the Mount—it spread out and almost around the foundations of the great rock. Only the shadows it avoided—the chilling outlines of pinacles and towers; the cold impress of the saint, holding close to the sunlit strand and basking in its warmth.

Some, following the example of their sea-faring fellows, dug half-heartedly in the sands in the hope of eling out the meager evening meal with a course, salt-flavored; others, abandoning themselves to lighter employment, made merry in heavy or riotous fashion, but the effect of these holiday efforts was only depressing and incongruous.

"Won't you join?" Some one's arm abruptly seized my lady.

"No, no!"

Unceremoniously he still would have drawn her into the ring, but with a sudden swift movement, she escaped from his grasp.

"My child!" The voice was that of a wolfish false friar who, seeing her pass quickly near by, broke off in threat, solicitation and appeal for sous, to intercept her. "Aren't you in a hurry, my child?"

"It may be," she answered steadily, with no effort to conceal her aversion at sight of the gleaming eyes and teeth. "Too much so, to speak with you, who are no friar!"

"What mean you?" His expression, ingratiating before, had darkened, and from his mean eyes shot a malignant look; she met it with fearless disdain.

"That you make pretext of this holy day to rob the people—as if they are not poor enough!"

"Ban you with bell, book and candle! Your tongue is too sharp, my girl!" he snarled, but did not linger long, finding the flashing glance, the contemptuous mien, or the truth of her words, little to his liking. That he profited not by the last, however, was soon evident, as with amulets and talismans for a bargain, again he moved among the crowd, conjuring by a full calendar of saints, real and imaginary, and professing to excommunicate, in an execrable confusion of monkish gibberish, where the people could not, or would not comply with his demands.

"So they are—poor enough!" Leaning on a stick, an aged fishwife who had drawn near and overheard part of the dialogue between the thrifty rogue and the girl, now shook her withered head. "Yet still to be cozened! Never too poor to be cozened!" she repeated in shrill falsetto tones.

"And why," sharply my lady turned to the crone, "why are they so poor? The lands are rich—the soil fertile."

"Why?" more shrilly. "You must come from some far-off place not to know. Why? Don't you, also, have to pay metayage to some great lord? And banalite here, and banalite there, until—"

"But surely, if you applied to your great lord, your Governor; if you told him—"

"If we told him!" Brokenly the woman laughed. "Yes; yes; of course; if—"

"I don't understand," said the Governor's daughter coldly.

Muttering and chuckling, the woman did not seem to hear; had started to hobble on, when abruptly the girl stopped her.

"Where do you live?"
"There!" A claw-like finger pointed. "On the old Seigneur's lands—a little distance from the woods—"

"The old Seigneur? You knew him?"

"Knew him! Who better?" The whitened head wagged. "And the Black Seigneur? Wasn't he left, as a child, with me, when the old Seigneur went to America? And, pursuing her thin lips, 'didn't I care for him, and bring him up as one of my own?'"

"But I thought—I heard that he, the Black Seigneur, when a boy, lived in the woods."

"That," answered the old creature, "was after. After the years he lived with us and shared our all! Not that we begrudged—no, no! Nor he! For once when I sent word, pleading our need, that we were starving, he forgave—I mean, remembered me—all I had done and," in a wheedling voice, "sent money—money—"

"He did?" Swiftly the girl reached for her own purse, only to discover she had forgotten to bring one. "But of course," in a tone of disappointment at her oversight, "he couldn't very well forget or desert one who had so generously befriended him."

"There are those now among his friends he must needs desert," the crone cackled, wagging her head.

A shadow crossed the girl's brow. "Must needs?" she repeated.

"Aye, forsooth! His comrades—taken prisoners near the island of Casque? His Excellency will hang them till they're dead—dead, like some I've seen dangling from the branches in the wood. He, the Black Seigneur, may wish to save them; but what can he do?"

"What, indeed?" The girl regarded the Mount almost bitterly. "It is impregnable."

"Way there!" At that moment, a deep, strong voice from a little group of people, moving toward them, interrupted.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Mountbank and the People.

In the center walked a man, dressed as a mountebank, who bent forward, laden with various properties—a bag that contained a miscellany of spurious medicines and drugs, to be sold from a stand, and various dolls for a small puppet theater he carried on his back. It was not for the Governor's daughter, or the old woman, however, his call had been intended. "Way there!" he repeated to those in front of him.

But they, yet seeking to detain, called out: "Give the piece here!"

Like a person not lightly turned from his purpose, he, strolling-player as well as charlatan, pointed to the Mount, and, unceremoniously thrusting one person to this side and another to that, stubbornly pushed on. As long as they were in sight the girl watched, but when with shouts and laughter they had vanished, swallowed by the shifting host, once more she turned to the crone. That person, however, had walked on toward the shore, and indecisively the Governor's daughter gazed after. The woman's name she had not inquired, but could find out later; that would not be difficult, she felt sure.

Soon, with no definite thought of where she was going, she began to retrace her steps, no longer experiencing that earlier over-sensitive perception for details, but seeing the picture as a whole—a vague impression of faces; in the background, the Mount—its golden saint ever threatening to strike!—until she drew closer; when abruptly the uplifted blade, a dominant note, above color and movement, vanished, and she looked about to find herself in the shadow of one of the rock's bulwarks. Near by, a scattering approach of pilgrims from the sands narrowed into a compact stream directed toward a lower gate, and, remembering her experience above, she would have avoided the general current; but no choice remained. At the portals she was jostled sharply; no respecters of persons, these men made her once more feel what it was to be one of the great commonalty; an atom in the rank and file! At length reaching the tower's little square, many of them stopped, and she was suffered to escape—to the stone steps swinging sharply upward. She had not gone far, however, when looking down, she was held by a spectacle not without novelty to her.

In the shadow of the Tower of the King stood the mountebank she had seen but a short time before on the sands. Now facing the people before his little show-house, which he had set up in a convenient corner, he was calling attention to the entertainment he proposed giving, by a loud beating on a drum.

Rub-a-dub-dub! "Don't crowd too close!" Rub-a-dub-dub! "Keep order and you will see—"

"Some trumpery miracle mystery!" called out a jeering voice.

"Or the martyrdom of some saint!" cried another.

"I don't know anything about any saint," answered the man, "unless—rub-a-dub-dub!—you mean my lord's lady!"

And truly the piece, as they were to discover, was quite barren of that antique religious flavor to which they objected and which still pervaded many of the puppet plays of the day. The Petit Masque of the Wicked Peasant and the Good Noble, it was called; and odd designation that at once interested the Lady Elise, bending over the stone balustrade the better to see. It interested, also, those official guardians of the peace, a number of soldiers and a few officers from the garrison standing near, who unmindful of the girl, divided their attention between the pasteboard center of interest and the people gathered around it.

Circumspectly the little play opened; a scene in which my lord, in a waistcoat somewhat frayed for one of his station, commands the lazy peasant to beat the marsh with a stick that the croaking of the frogs may not disturb at night the rest of his noble spouse, seemed designed principally to show that obedience, submission and unquestioning fealty were the great lord's due. On the one hand, was the patrician born to rule; on the other, the peasant, to serve; and no task, however onerous, but should be gladly welcomed in behalf of the master, or his equally illustrious lady. The dialogue, showing the disinclination of the bad peasant for this simple employment and the good lord's noble solicitude for the nerves of his high-born spouse, was both nimble and witty; especially those bits punctuated

Jury Service

The jurors for the September term of Court have been drawn by Judge H. L. D. Stanford and the list appears in another column.

Jury service is one that some do not care to perform, whilst others are equally anxious to be drawn. The law provides a system by which this work is to be distributed and the judges are careful in filling the boxes for the various election districts so that not only names of suitable men shall go in but also that none shall be overlooked.

Judge Stanford is exercising his usual skill in matters of detail and in order to keep track of those who have been drawn and served in recent years, he has a private record book, suitably indexed, showing such details. By reference to it, he is at once apprised of the situation for each district of the county. By this arrangement repetitions are avoided and omissions as well.

Jury service is an important auxiliary to the courts and by it the men of the community aid in bringing violators of law to justice and settling controversies of a business character. The right of trial by one's peers is an aged one and its long existence appears to only emphasize its appreciation and value. The more reason, therefore, why all should hold themselves in readiness to perform their share of such work.

There are, of course, frequently reasons why some have to ask to be excused. The court, however, is usually very careful in this respect and the excuse must be of a substantial nature to be granted. It is expected that all shall take their turn and the systematic way in which the drawings are made tends to fulfill such expectation.

Mr. Joshua W. Miles and the Good County of Somerset

Mr. Joshua W. Miles, who was one of the first Marylanders to break from Speaker Clark and cast his vote for Governor Wilson, also leads the way with the first county contribution from Maryland to the Democratic national campaign fund. Mr. Miles put Somerset county in the limelight and in the center of the stage at the National Convention, and in the sort of limelight, too, that is worth while; and the $500 which he has recently sent to Governor Wilson from 100 citizens of Somerset, representing people in every walk of life, puts his county to the front once more. The significant feature of this contribution is that it came, literally from the people, not from politicians or corporations, and that it was given not only cheerfully but enthusiastically, and not for personal advantage but for the general welfare.

Somerset's campaign fund committee of one hundred forms a roll of honor, and Mr. Miles has again shown that he knows how to do the right thing at the right time.

Why should not Baltimore city and every county in the State follow this fine example?—Baltimore Sun.

Hilles The Comedian

He's a generous youth, the young man who happens to be chairman of the Republican National Committee. After handing over 384 electoral votes to Mr. Taft, he is kind enough to give ten States to the Democrats. But where is the Bull Moose's allowance? Hasn't he heard that a Mr. Roosevelt, at one time a well-known Republican, is running for President?

Mr. Hilles refuses to admit that more than four States are in doubt—Arizona, California, Oklahoma and Nebraska. Without a tremor he puts in the "sure-Taft" column Kansas and West Virginia, where he will have to fight even to get on the ticket; Tennessee, Missouri, Kentucky and Maryland. Taft stands just about as much chance of carrying these six States as Lorimer would.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

The Soup-House Creed

It is a well-known fact that a lie, given twenty-four hours' start of the truth, is never overtaken. This applies of a communication from an esteemed correspondent who was deceived by a campaign canard nearly twenty years ago and who has evidently never been enlightened. He writes:

What's the matter with you folks, roaring for Democracy? My first vote was for Cleveland. The result—soup-houses, six months out of work, almost starved to death. Be sensible.

Here is a man—and he is not alone in the country—who is as impervious to reason as a sheet of armor-plate to the impact of a paper dart. Hard times followed the election of a Democratic President; ergo, the election of a Democratic President caused hard times. The man who witnessed this phenomenon without studying it—and thousands like him—will never be persuaded to the contrary. He knows that the election of Cleveland brought distress and unemployment, because Republican campaign orators have told him so.

The soup-house argument has helped to hold the country in the thrall of the protective years. It will be effective with a remnant of the voters in 1912. But fortunately Republican faith in the myth has weakened under the pressure of excessive tariff extortion, and the believers in the soup-house creed have at length diminished to the point where they must prove a negligible factor in the election. There is a majority opinion now that the country will be ruined not by the election of a Democratic President, but by the continuance of Republican tariff favoritism. The "sensible" policy of protection is the protection of the people from the greed of the Payne-Aldrich beneficiaries by the election of Woodrow Wilson.—Philadelphia Record.

What Will Vermont Say?

Vermont will fire the "first gun" of this year's political campaign at a State election to be held on Tuesday, September 3. The result will show whether the unusual conditions which have thus far developed are likely to have any appreciable effect upon the Republican vote.

Conditions are muddled in Vermont, as well as in other States. Besides the Democratic and Republican tickets, there will be a Progressive ticket and the Prohibition ticket will receive more than its customary support of a thousand or so votes through a combination with the Grangers which may prove threatening. The Socialists, also with a following of about a thousand, are likely to cut only their usual figure.

At the 1908 election, President Taft received 39,552 votes in Vermont and Mr. Bryan 11,496. This, however, was a small poll, as there are about 70,000 voters in the State. The Roosevelt vote and the Prohibition alliance with the Grange will undoubtedly reduce the Republican vote, and the significance of the situation will depend upon the extent of this reduction.—Wilmington Evening Evening.

Guide to Yellowstone Park

The various methods of seeing the wonders of Yellowstone Park are fully described in a comprehensive circular on that great reservation just issued by the Department of the Interior entitled "General Information Regarding the Yellowstone National Park." This circular gives full information regarding the hotels, the permanent camps, and the movable camps that are operated for the accommodation of visitors. The terraces, geysers, hot springs, Yellowstone Lake, and the Grand Canyon may all be seen on a circuit of 143 miles that require 35 days travel by coach. Full data are given regarding the distance between all the principal points of interest and there is detailed information regarding side trips, opportunities for fishing, and the best camping places.

During the season of 1911 over 3,000 of the visitors to the park traveled in their own or specially hired conveyance, coming and going as they desired and making their camps at any convenient point. This circular, which may be obtained free from the Department of Interior, contains a tourist map of the park, maps of the geyser basins, lists of books and magazine articles, as well as the regulations in force for the protection of the natural curiosities, the game, and the forests.

OVER TAFT'S VETO

House Passes Wool Tariff Revision With the Aid of Republican Votes

The House in passing the Wool bill over the President's veto by a vote of 164 to 80 last Tuesday afternoon started one of the greatest Democratic demonstrations in the history of the present session and also gave rise to a spirited discussion of the rules.

The Republicans were panic-stricken and the Democrats themselves almost stunned by joy when it developed that Majority Leader Underwood had mustered two-thirds vote to override the President's veto. For five minutes afterward the Democratic side of the chamber was the scene of cheering and applause.

The vote, 164 to 80, was made possible only by the defection of 21 Republicans, who voted with the Democrats. The parliamentary fight came over the 10 members recorded "present."

Not in the memory of the oldest member of the House has a tariff measure ever been passed over the President's veto by the lower branch of Congress. Neither Speaker Clark nor Majority Leader Underwood could recollect such an occurrence.

STEEL ALSO IS PUT OVER VETO

President Taft last Wednesday vetoed the bill revising the Steel and Iron schedule, and within three hours the House of Representatives, followed up its triumph of Tuesday, promptly mustered the necessary two-thirds majority to pass the bill over the veto. The vote was very close, however, 173 to 83, the margin over the necessary two-thirds being just two votes. When the vote was announced the Democrats went wild with enthusiasm.

Only 16 Republicans Wednesday joined with the Democrats to override the veto, while Tuesday 21 of the minority deserted the president and went with the Democrats in the effort to make the bill revising the Woolen schedule a law despite the opposition of the Executive.

Three Schools to Elect

Three of Baltimore's leading educational institutions are practically without heads. Dr. Ira Remsen's resignation from the president's chair of Johns Hopkins University is soon to take effect; Goucher College is without a president, and the University of Maryland has not yet elected a provost to succeed the late Bernard Clark.

All three executives, too, when selected will step into situations critical in the histories of the institutions. Johns Hopkins is on the verge of moving to Homewood, Goucher College is slowly raising a $1,000,000 endowment fund for extending its work and the University of Maryland is facing a change in the government of the school.

Who the new men will be there is not the slightest idea. Former Governor Edwin Warfield is strongly mentioned in some quarters as the new University of Maryland provost, but it is believed that he cannot accept account of business duties. Dr. Thomas H. Fell, president of St. John's College, it is said, is unwilling to leave his present position.

The trustees of Johns Hopkins University are reticent about their probable selection for president. Many men are mentioned, but the trustees only smile when mention is made of a possible choice.

It is even more difficult to ascertain the sentiments of the Goucher College trustees concerning a new head. Dr. John B. Van Meter, formerly dean of the college, has been acting president for one year and it is probable that he will continue for another.

School Children

Professor Wood, of Columbia University, says 10,000,000 children in the public schools have defective teeth, 1,000,000 are tubercular, 5,000,000 are underfed and 5,000,000 have defective vision. He might have gone further and told us how many millions dislike to wash their faces and comb their hair and how many fail to get up in the morning the first time they are called. Also the percentage of boys who would rather go to school than go fishing.

Sad as it is, we must admit the majority of pupils are not absolutely perfect. If they were they would be very different from their fathers and brothers, and cousins and uncles and aunts.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

Find Long-Lost Loot

Ten thousand dollars in gold, believed to have been hidden by William Anderson, a bandit who terrorized Central Missouri immediately after the Civil War, has been found in the old manor house on what was the plantation of William Burch, in Howard county, Mo., and which is now the property of C. E. Yancey, of Liberty. Employees of Mr. Yancey are remodeling the house.

According to those familiar with the story of the death of Anderson in 1868, he was wounded after robbing a Central Missouri bank, and stopped that night in the manor house of the Burch plantation, dying several days later. It was in the room in which the bandit slept that the money was found.

Deeper Waterways Association

With but two weeks remaining before the Fifth Annual Convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, to be held at New London, Conn., September 4th, 5th and 6th, every effort is being made to complete the program within the next day or so. While there are a few speakers to be heard from the list at the present writing includes many prominent men among whom are Pres. Taft, Governors, Congressmen, Mayors, prominent engineers and business men along the Atlantic Seaboard States. In all probability Charles Nagel, Secretary of Commerce and Labor will represent the President's Cabinet at the Convention.

Among the more recent additions to the speakers list are Howard D. Hadley, of Plattsburgh, N. Y., and Captain W. V. E. Jacobs, Superintendent of the School of Instruction for the Revenue Cutter Service at New London, Conn. Mr. Hadley will talk on Canada's Connections with the Atlantic Intracoastal canal project while Captain Jacobs will speak on "The Revenue Cutter Service as it applies to Coastwise Trade and Inside Waterways."

It is pointed out by those interested in waterway improvements, that Canada has a vital interest in the Intracoastal Canal project, since the completion of the Lake Champlain-Hudson River Valley branch of the New York State Barge Canal two years hence, will form direct connection by canal, between New York and other Atlantic Coast ports and such cities as Montreal and Quebec, Canada. Again, a large firm that has interested itself in the waterway movement for years, declares that with the completion of this branch they will ship annually one million tons of ore from Canada over this waterway to New York where it will have to be reshipped by rail to points along the Atlantic Coast, unless the protected Intracoastal project is finally completed.

Confederate Money as Relics

The vast hoard of Confederate currency seized by the Union Army during the Civil War, which has been stored in the Federal Treasury for half a century, is being distributed among institutions the country over for preservation as historic relics.

Already sets of these notes, including practically all denominations, have been sent to 300 colleges and 350 libraries and the demand for specimens has not been satisfied.

Secretary MacVeagh is supplying the larger institutions first and gradually working down to the smaller ones, exercising care to see that every State in the Union receives its just proportion.

Laura Townsend and Zedoc W. Townsend, her husband, vs. Cora Somers, John W. Hastings et al.
No. 2754, Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity.

The purpose of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate, situate in Somerset county, in this State, whereof a certain Nancy Hastings died seized and possessed, and for the division of the proceeds of the sale among the parties interested in said real estate, as set forth in this cause.

The bill states that the said Nancy Hastings departed this life sometime during the year 1891, intestate, and seized and possessed of a lot or parcel of land, situate in the village of Marion, and lying and being on the southwest side of the county road leading from Marion to Tull's Corner, and adjoining the land owned or recently owned by Claude A. Messick, A. E. Tull, George Marshall and Theodore Bell, and also adjoining the Annie Colburn place, and containing about three (3) acres, and the said Nancy Hastings left as her sole heirs at law, the following children and grand-children:

Laura Townsend, Cora Somers, John W. Hastings, Reuben A. Hastings, also the following grand-children, being children of Mary E. Holland, a deceased daughter of said Nancy Hastings, Bell Walker, Fred L. Holland, Barton D. Holland, Ira Holland, Herman Holland, Beulah Holland, also the following children of Isaac Hastings, son of the said Nancy Hastings, who died intestate during the year 1899, leaving surviving him a widow, Elizabeth Hastings, and the following children, Wilmer Hastings, Raymond Hastings, Arthur Hastings, Annie Ford, and Daisy Waller; also the following grand-children, children of Archelaus M. Hastings, a deceased son, who died intestate, during the year 1898, Nancy N. Hastings, Alberta A. Hastings, Irma V. Dunn, Ellison R. Hastings, also a great grand-child, Gleason Adkins, infant son of Naida Adkins, a daughter of the said Archelaus M. Hastings, who died about January, 1904, leaving surviving her a husband, William Adkins, and the said Gleason Adkins, as her sole heirs at law.

That the said John W. Hastings, together with Ella Hastings, his wife, Bell Walker, together with her husband, Wm. E. Walker, Fred L. Holland and Mary Holland, his wife, Barton D. Holland and Emma Holland, his wife, Herman Holland and Mabel Holland, his wife, Beulah Holland, Wilmer Hastings, together with Lillian Hastings, his wife, Reuben A. Hastings, together with his wife, Annie Hastings, Raymond Hastings, Arthur Hastings, Annie Ford, together with her husband, Robert Ford, William Adkins, Elizabeth Hastings, Daisy Waller, together with her husband, Robert Waller, Nancy N. Hastings, together with her husband, John L. Hastings, all defendants in this suit, are all non-residents of the State of Maryland, that the said real estate is not susceptible of partition, without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interest therein, as above stated, and that it is necessary that the said land should be sold and the proceeds divided among the said parties, according to their respective interests.

It is thereupon, this 15th day of August, 1912, ordered by the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Somerset county, once a week in each of four successive weeks before the 15th day of September next, give notice to the said absent or non-resident defendants, of the object and substance of this bill warning them to appear in this Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 7th day of October, 1912, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

NOTICE To Tax-Payers

Notice is hereby given that the levy of the year 1912 for State and County taxes has been made for Somerset county. Pursuant to said levy the taxes are now in my hands for collection. A discount of three per cent. will be allowed on all county taxes paid on or before October 31st, 1912 and a discount of two per cent. if paid during November 1912. A discount of five per cent. will be allowed on all State taxes paid on or before August 25th, 1912.

The law provides that both County and State taxes must be paid in order to obtain the discount.

ROBERT F. MADDOX,
Treasurer and Collector of State and County Taxes.

Fruit Packing Demonstrations

The School of Horticulture of the Maryland Agricultural College and Experiment Station desires to conduct as many demonstrations in packing apples this fall as possible. Any grower desiring to have a demonstration in his orchard, where an expert will be present to show how apples should be packed in boxes and barrels, should communicate with the School of Horticulture, College Park, Md.

There is no doubt that our growers should give more attention to the proper packing of this fruit. It is in the packing that the western growers have been ahead of us, for we grow finer fruit, but many orchardists have not yet learned how to pack and market it properly.

Mr. W. S. Gonsalus, a farmer living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by all dealers.

Maryland Week Show

Preliminary arrangements are now being made for the annual meeting and exhibition of the Maryland State Horticultural Society and affiliated agricultural associations, in the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, November 18th to 23rd, "Maryland Week."

The exhibition this year promises to surpass that held last year in several departments. The premium list of the Horticultural Society, which has been sent to the growers, offers many valuable prizes.

Fruit growers should plan to ship early ripening fruit to the Terminal Heating & Freezing Company, 402 S. Eutaw St.; later varieties, vegetables, and other farm products intended for the exhibit can be sent direct to Armory prior to opening of the exhibit. All farmers and fruit growers should plan to attend these meetings. Any information concerning either Association meeting at this time, may be had by communicating with the Secretary, College Park, Md.

General N. Winslow Williams, Secretary of State under Governor Crothers, declared last week that, believing that neither of the old parties could meet the needs of the country at this time, he would support Theodore Roosevelt for President in the coming campaign.

"Were all medicines as meritorious as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the world would be much better off and the percentage of suffering greatly decreased," writes Lindsay Scott, of Temple, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

Including piece goods and ready-to-wear dresses, trimmings, notions, ends and odds of different lines throughout the store—summer shoes, matting, rugs, etc. Our limited store space makes this move necessary in order to make room for the new Fall Goods that will soon be coming in. While the sale is on we will sell

- 18c and 20c Flaxon Dress Goods at 12 1-2c
- Ready-to-Wear Summer Dresses, 1-4 off
- Remnants of Matting, 1-4 off
- Wool Rugs, 10 per cent. off
- Special lot of Oxford Shoes, 1-2 off
- Special lot of Dress Trimmings, 1-2 off
- Jelly Tumblers, 25c dozen
- "Banner" Fruit Jars, 75c dozen, for quarts
- Special lot of Voiles and Reys, 1-4 off

These and others, as the different departments suggest, are articles that should come in for a slaughter price we will add. In the meantime the regular lines will be sufficiently attractive to command your attention during August.

—OF—

REMNANTS

Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
AUG. 21	AUG. 22	AUG. 23	AUG. 24

There are three important reasons why you should make a special effort to attend this sale:

First—We are not offering you a line of old and shop-worn goods but a nice assortment of clean, fresh summer materials that you have either a present or future need for.

Second—We are determined to close out every dollar worth before the sale closes Saturday night and have, therefore, cut prices lower than goods of similar quality have ever been offered.

Third—In connection with this Remnant Sale we will offer a SPECIAL CASH DISCOUNT OF 10 PER CENT. on goods in every department of our store.

MILLINERY at Half Price

This includes all trimmed hats and shapes with the exception of our Ratine, Corduroy, Felt Hats and Sailors.

Sale lasts but 4 days only and is strictly a cash sale. We not only invite you, we urge you to take advantage of the extreme low prices.

WILSON'S SPEECH HIGHLY PRAISED

Press and Public Men Join in Chorus of Approval.

DISCREET, ABLE, SAFE, SANE.

"Will Impress the Country Favorably," Declares William Jennings Bryan.
"Admirable Pronouncement," Says Champ Clark—"Appeals Strongly to Every Legitimate Business Interest," Declares John W. Kern.

An Admirable Speech.
Hon. William J. Bryan—"Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance is admirable. It is original in its treatment of the issues of the campaign. I am sure the address will impress the country favorably."

Appeals Strongly to Every Legitimate Business Interest.

John W. Kern, Senator From Indiana—"Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance is a masterpiece, setting forth with great clearness his conception of the work to be accomplished by the Democratic party under his leadership.
It is in complete harmony with the progressive sentiment of the country, but also appeals strongly to every legitimate business interest."

Will Take High Rank.
Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives—"Considered from a literary standpoint, Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance will take high rank in the political output of the year. It will make pleasant reading and therefore will prove a fetching campaign document. He discusses the issues of the day philosophically, clearly and forcibly. Its courteous tone will allay opposition and win him friends. It is an admirable pronouncement."

Battle Hymn of Democracy.
Senator Gore of Oklahoma—"The closing sentence of his speech will become the battle hymn of Democracy in the pending campaign: 'I thank God and take courage.' It is at once a paeon of praise and a summons of patriotic duty."

Discreet, Able, Safe and Sane.
John E. Lamb, ex-Representative
From Indiana—"Speech is discreet, able, safe and sane. Governor Wilson believes in the efficacy of the scalpel rather than the big stick. His dissection of trust and tariff evils is unique and convincing. His suggestions of reform in methods of government and reduction of tariff schedules will meet with approval of legitimate business and the laboring masses as well."

Points the Way For Justice.
Hoke Smith, Senator From Georgia.
"I am delighted with Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance. It is a superb statement of the present purpose of the Democracy and points the way for justice to all through real progress by law under the constitution.
With his election assured, it should give confidence to honest business and new courage to those who need a square deal."

Lays His Soul Bare.
John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston.
"Governor Wilson's acceptance is characteristic of the man. He lays his soul bare to the people and asks them to join with him, irrespective of party, in righting present wrongs without undue clamor or injury to legitimate interests. He lays emphasis on constructive thinking, and I believe this spirit is one of the nation's greatest needs at the present time. It will be President Wilson overwhelmingly in November."

Progressive, but Not Wild.
Thomas Mott Osborne, Auburn, N. Y.
"Governor Wilson's speech fits the occasion and the man—progressive, but not wild; sane, strong and unmistakeably Democratic. It makes an inspiring opening of the campaign, indicating clearly and nobly the spirit in which the leaders of our regenerated Democratic party must work; not one of mere partisan make believe, but of honesty and justice toward all men."

Prophetic of Success.
Governor William H. Mann of Virginia—"I think it was an admirable speech. It was wise, conservative, comprehensive, prophetic not only of Democratic success, but of Democratic supremacy for years to come."

Rings True in Every Sentence.
Governor Frederick W. Plaisted of Maine—"It is a splendid presentation of the issues for the American people.
It rings true in every sentence and in every word. It represents the spirit of the Democracy of today. It is the address of a statesman."

An Admirable Presentation.
Governor Eugene Foss, Massachusetts—"It was an admirable presenta-

PRINCESS ANNE PROOF Should Convince Every Princess Anne Reader

The frank statement of a neighbor,

Here's a Princess Anne case.
A Princess Anne citizen testifies.

Thomas H. Heath, Beckford avenue, Princess Anne, Md., says: "I am willing at all times to say a word in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave my testimonial some months ago and I willingly confirm all I then said. I suffered from severe pains in the small of my back and was restless. In the morning I felt tired and worn out. I also had dizzy spells, which were so severe I could hardly stand. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me in every way and after taking them, I considered myself cured."

THE MAELSTROM.

Tides and Winds Cause the Whirl
and the Hole in the Sea.

"What of the maelstrom that is between two of the Lofoden islands, off the coast of Norway? Where the water sinks there must be a subterranean passage or an outlet farther north," writes a correspondent.

In answer we reply that there is no opening in the ocean's floor. The whirling motion is caused by tides and winds. The water rushes in channels between the islands, whose configuration aids in twisting. The current runs during six hours from north to south and then six hours from south to north. This reversal and friction against rocks set up the whirling motion. "Suction through a hole in the bottom of the sea" does not exist.
Winds in from the ocean when in the right direction increase the rotation of the water which, in the center of the whirl, is about twenty fathoms in depth, but just west of the straits the soundings show depths of from 100 to 200 fathoms.

Many modern ships, in the absence of winds, have traversed the troubled wastes, but they keep away when the wind is blowing against the changeable currents, especially at high tide.
When the danger is very great. Many fables regarding the maelstrom have been handed down from ancient times, from medieval also, and moderns still invent them. Of course ships have been wrecked there as well as elsewhere.—
New York American.

A vast amount of ill health is due to impaired digestion. When the stomach fails to perform its functions properly
the whole system becomes deranged.
A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets is all you need. They will strengthen your digestion, invigorate your liver, and regulate your bowels, entirely doing away with that miserable feeling due to faulty digestion. Try it. Many others have been permanently cured—why not you? For sale by all dealers.

What's in a Man.
A man has 500 muscles, 1,000,000,000 cells, 200 different bones, four gallons of blood, several hundred feet of arteries and veins, over twenty-five feet of intestines and millions of pores.
His heart weighs from eight to twelve pounds, its capacity is from four to six ounces in each ventricle, and it is size is 5 by 3½ by 2½ inches. It is a hollow muscular organ and pumps twenty-two and a half pounds of blood every minute. In twenty-four hours it pumps sixteen tons. It beats about seventy-two times a minute. In one year an average man's heart pumps 11,680,000 pounds of blood.

Bones as a Barometer.
The merits of bones as indicators of fair or foul weather have been vouched for by the captain of an Italian steamer carrying a cargo of bones from the South American port of Buenos Aires to New York. When the ship was sailing toward a storm recently, the skipper stated, the bones creaked and moaned, and when fair weather was ahead they were silent again.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

Less Elaborate.
"I can remember when you didn't dress for dinner," said the old time friend.
"I always dressed for dinner," replied Mr. Cumrox, "although I admit it was simpler in the early days. Then dressing for dinner consisted merely in rolling down my shirt sleeves."—Washington Star.

Forced to It.
"May I ask," inquired the interviewer, "why you paint none but nudes?"
"Certainly," replied the painter. "The styles change so rapidly in clothing that a picture would be out of date almost before the paint is dry."

Flying Men Fall
victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles just like other people, with like results in loss of appetite, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that as T. D. Peebles, Henry, Tenn., proved. "Six bottles of Electric Bitters" he writes,
"did more to give me new strength and good appetite than all other stomach remedies I used." So they help everybody. It's folly to suffer when this great remedy will help you from the first dose. Try it. Only 50 cents at

FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

LABOR AND THE RULE OF RIGHT.

The working people of America—if they must be distinguished from the minority that constitutes the rest of it—are, of course, the backbone of the nation. No law that safeguards their life, that improves the physical and moral conditions under which they live, that makes their hours of labor rational and tolerable, that gives them freedom to act in their own interest and that protects them where they cannot protect themselves can properly be regarded as class legislation or as anything but as a measure taken in the interest of the whole people, whose partnership in right action we are trying to establish and make real and practical. It is in this spirit that we shall act if we are genuine spokesmen of the whole country.—From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination.

tion of the real issues upon which the campaign will be fought this fall. I think that it is bound to strengthen Governor Wilson among the thinking people of the country."

Will Ring Through the Country.
Governor George W. Donaghey, Arkansas—"It was a great speech. It will ring through the country. It is just what he should have said. The people have never felt more confident of success since the first nomination of Grover Cleveland."

Iowa For Wilson.
Judge Martin J. Wade, Iowa—"For the first time since the state was admitted to the Union Iowa will this year give its electoral vote to the Democratic nominee for president."

Jeffersonian to the Core.
John A. Dix, Governor of New York—"Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance is marked with broad vision and clear thought, expressed in language every American can understand. As a business man and manufacturer, I am especially pleased with his positive and statesmanlike position on the paramount issue of tariff reform and his demand for an immediate downward revision. In sincerity, precise statement and comprehensive grasp of great principles and their application of the fundamental needs of the country the speech is Jeffersonian to the core. It contains no appeal to passion and excites no prejudice.
Governor Wilson has presented to his party and to the nation clear conception of the truth that the real struggle in the pending campaign is between the concentrated powers of privilege and the aspiration of the American people to realize in their government and their economic industrial and social relations the full measure of the principles of freedom, justice and progress, upon which the republic was founded. To all the issues and every national need Governor Wilson applies the rule of right and common advantage. The reforms he advocates are far-reaching, but they are necessary, sound and practical. The speech will awaken and stir the national conscience and lead to a triumph that will restore to the people the control of their government and inaugurate a new and happier epoch in the life and development of the republic."

Worthy Leader of Progressive Americans.

Louis D. Brandeis, Boston—"Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance is the utterance of a twentieth century statesman. With keen perception he recognizes the evils from which the people are suffering and the dangers which threaten our welfare. With broad vision he points the way by which those evils may be removed and the dangers averted. He proves his understanding alike of business and of social needs and that he is a Democrat in fact as well as in name, and his courage is undoubted. Progressive Americans have in him a worthy leader."

Equable and Moderate.

New York Sun—"Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance has good luck as well as merit. It comes just in time to contrast sharply with the interminable bedlamite rant of Th. Den-tatus Africanus Ferox. And, if with out contempt of campus it may be said, though written by a college president very recently retired, it is in the English language, not anemic and seldom with suspicion of priggishness or donnishness, though it has an air of certain academic distinction of its own. What will please everybody who has a living to make is Governor Wilson's equable and moderate tone. Governor Wilson is for repair, not for destruction."

Partnership of the People.
New York Times—"It is applicable.
The dominant thought, the very soul of his discourse, is the common interest of all the people, their partnership in our activities and our prosperity.
The partnership idea comes from his mind not as a sublimated political theory, but as a practical, immediate result."

Straight to the Heart.
New York World—"Woodrow Wilson's speech of acceptance is the ablest, clearest, sanest statement of high public purpose this country has known in a generation. Without passion, without invective, without abuse, without partisan bitterness, without denunciation, without egotism, without dem-agogy, he has driven straight to the heart of the supreme issue of American institutions—the partnership between government and privilege."

New styles for 1912, they are exclusive, no other dealer can get them only through J. T. Taylor, Jr., as I am the general agent for the manufacturers who produce the new styles which other manufacturers copy, and are always one year behind the styles.

I Have in Stock for Your Selection

The lightest surrey made in the U. S. for one horse.
The lightest runabout with 4 styles axles.
The lightest novelty Wrenn buggy with 4 styles axles.
The lightest speed cart on the market.

All of the above goods are bought in car load lots.

My Farm Wagons cannot be equalled for ten dollars ($10.00) more. We don't only guarantee our steel axles, but we guarantee every part of the wagon. Our rims are deeper, our spokes and hubs are larger. Look them over, don't be deceived by paint and putty.

Yes, I keep the price down. I have no one to divide my profit with but my customer. I am selling more buggies, runabouts, wagons, and harness this year than ever before. I have the largest stock you ever saw.

14 Car loads of Buggies and Wagons.
One and one-half car loads of Harness.

My sales last year were over One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000). I'll build you a buggy to order at the same price you pay for the ones you have forced on you by other dealers. You have been paying too much; come see for yourself.

AUTOMOBILES

Why the Buick is the Best!

The government invited all the leading manufacturers of cars priced from $900 to $2000 to submit a car in competition to a committee of mechanical experts. The cars were driven to the designated place and the drivers dismissed. The examination was then made with no representative of any of the cars present. Motor for motor, shaft for shaft, bolt for bolt, the cars were compared, tested and appraised by the government experts. One by one cars were eliminated until but one remained. It was THE BUICK. Of the seventeen or eighteen cars submitted THE BUICK alone stood the rigid tests of quality and construction upon which the examination was based. This car was at once turned over to the government for immediate service.

Woodrow Wilson, Scholar and Statesman, Democratic Candidate For President.

FARMERS SHOULD SUPPORT WILSON

Best Equipped Man For Presidency Since Lincoln.

SENATOR GARDNER'S VIEWS.

The Maine Statesman, Himself a Farmer, Declares That President Taft Would Continue to Tax Farmers of the United States and at the Same Time Compel Them to Compete With Canadian Farmers.

The reasons why those engaged in agricultural pursuits should support Governor Woodrow Wilson for president are strongly set forth by Senator Obadiah Gardner of Maine in an address to farmers.

Senator Gardner is a practical farmer, one who farms his own farm, and he is probably in closer touch and sympathy with country life and its environments than any other man in public life.

For twenty-five years Senator Gardner has been actively interested in the national grange, and for ten years he was the master of the state grange of Maine. A few years ago he came within a close margin of being elected governor of the Pine Tree State.

A little less than a year ago, when Senator Frye, who had represented Maine in the senate for thirty years, died, Governor Plaisted honored Mr. Gardner and recognized the agricultural interests of the country by appointing him to the United States senate, where he has made a most creditable record, devoting particular attention to the welfare of the great rural population of the country. He is now a candidate for re-election and will undoubtedly be successful.

In his address Senator Gardner says: To the Farmers of the United States Greeting:

Being one of you and for the greater part of my life having been engaged in the practical everyday duties of my own farm, having been for twenty-five years past officially at work through boards of agriculture and the national and state granges, having served four years as second officer of the national grange and as master of the Maine state grange ten years, during which time the order in Maine added 35,000 members and attained a power and influence never held before. I feel I am in a position to speak from the standpoint of one who knows the farmer and his needs, and it is solely because of

THE PEOPLE AND THE CURRENCY.

In dealing with the complicated and difficult question of the reform of our banking and currency laws it is plain that we ought to consult very many persons besides the bankers, not because we distrust the bankers, but because they do not necessarily comprehend the business of the country, notwithstanding they are indispensable servants of it and may do a vast deal to make it hard or easy. No mere bankers' plan will meet the requirements, no matter how honestly conceived. It should be a merchants and farmers' plan as well, elastic in the hands of those who use it as an indispensable part of their daily business. From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination.

this that I am prompted to address you. For years farmers have justly complained of being required to pull at the short end of the yoke because of unfair and unjust discriminations in legislation and transportation, and at the present time the farmers are charged with being the cause of the high cost of living when as a matter of fact, taken collectively, the amount invested in their business, the hours devoted to hard labor and every thing connected with the details of agricultural life—they are, as a whole, the poorest paid class of people in this country while relatively the most important.

During all recent years farmers have been told what a great blessing has been theirs through the so called protective tariff and yet to find a market for their principal crops they have had to compete in the markets of the world where the price is fixed. But suddenly it is discovered that the farmer is the sole cause for the high cost of living, and what happens? The president (Mr. Taft) with a total disregard for the interests of the farmers, submits a plan to open up to competition with the farmers of the United States the products of Canada while being careful to preserve the tariff or more correctly speaking, the tax on all the farmer has to buy, which as clearly as anything can expose the hypocrisy and "humbuggery" of the claim that the tariff is any benefit to agriculture as compared with manufactured products.

Now, the farmers of this country have an opportunity to benefit themselves that has never appeared within my recollection, as the Democratic party has been compelled by the force of public opinion to nominate a man for the presidency who is the best equipped for that high office of any that have been nominated or elected since Lincoln—a man that I speak of from a personal acquaintance with and a knowledge of his fitness; a man of great natural ability, splendidly educated, not theoretically, but practically; a keenness of intellect remarkable for its grasp of every condition with which he is confronted; an indomitable courage to do right, and, above all, a great, broad tendency with and sympathy for all classes. He will make one of the most accessible presidents ever in the White House and through whom none will be refused a hearing, however humble, nor fail to receive justice at his hands. He is truly a marvelous man, and I wish every person in the United States could know him as I know him. And supplementing all these qualities is the addition that his home is one of perfect balance.

None can meet the splendid Mrs. Wilson and her three refined, cultured daughters with their perfect naturalness but must feel that the whole family of Woodrow Wilson was especially prepared to fill a great need in the present crisis in the history of our country, as were Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln, and I would advise the farmers upon my reputation as a man if you want to protect your own interests and those of your families, if you want to render the greatest possible good to your country and future generations, if you want to contribute your part to the end that popular government under God shall not perish from the earth, then see that the Hon. Woodrow Wilson is elected president.

WHAT REPUBLICAN PROSPERITY IS.

What has the result been? Prosperity? Yes; if by prosperity you mean fast wealth, no matter how distributed or whether distributed at all or not; if you mean vast enterprises built up to be presently concentrated under the control of comparatively small bodies of men, who can determine almost at pleasure whether there shall be competition or not. The nation as a nation has grown immensely rich. She is justly proud of her industries and of the genius of her men of affairs. They can master anything they set their minds to, and we have been greatly stimulated under their leadership and command. Their laurels are many and very green. We must accord them the great honors that are their due, and we must preserve what they have built up for us. But what of the other side of the picture? It is not easy for us to live as it used to be. Our money will not buy as much. High wages, even when we can get them, yield us no great comfort. We used to be better off with less, because a dollar could buy so much more. The majority of us have been distressed to find ourselves growing poorer, even though our earnings were slowly increasing. Prices climb faster than we can push our earnings up.—From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination.

"Wilson and Marshall" looks good sounds good, is good.

WILSON STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Josephus Daniels Invites Close Study of Writings.

SLANDER WON'T WIN NOW.

Chairman of Democratic Publicity Bureau Points Out Errors of Campaigns of Previous Years and Finds a Good Moral—Roosevelt Also Wrote Books and Made Bitter Attacks on Various Men and Classes.

New York.—Josephus Daniels, chairman of the publicity committee of the Democratic national committee, said today:

"Eight years ago during the presidential campaign of 1904 I came to New York, and, being a member of the Democratic national committee, I dropped in at the headquarters of the committee. I found the literary bureau of the committee very actively engaged in perusing the volumes of Theodore Roosevelt. When I saw on every desk 'The Winning of the West,' 'The Life of Thomas H. Benton' and a half dozen others of the works of the then Republican nominee for president I wondered whether or not I had got into the right place.

"I was immediately set aright, however, when I was informed that the literary young men were engaged in culling from those books some of the many denunciations and bitter criticisms and attacks made by Theodore Roosevelt upon public men and measures and his aspersions upon great representative bodies of our people, such as workmen and farmers.

"I found them preparing to send forth broadcast all over the land such excerpts from the writing of Theodore Roosevelt as:

"Cowboys are much better fellows and pleasanter companions than small farmers or agricultural laborers, nor are the mechanics and workmen of a great city to be mentioned in the same breath."

"Mr. Bryan and his adherents have appealed to the basest set in the land—the farmers."

"They (workmen who object to government by injunction) are not in sympathy with men of good minds and sound civic morality."

Hits Quakers Too.

"They quoted from what he said about the Quakers, that those who would not fight were traitors to their country."

"They said that when the farmers and workmen and the Quakers came to know what Theodore Roosevelt had written about them they would rise up with wrath and indignation and bury Theodore Roosevelt beneath an avalanche of votes. They said that Roosevelt would not answer that exposure of his views, and, of course, he never did. I agreed with them that it was the proper thing to do to herald these utterances through the country.

"As to whether or not that sort of campaigning had any effect the result of the campaign eight years ago speaks for itself.

"The Republican party is attempting to do today the same sort of thing that the Democrats tried in 1908. The Democrats out-Rodenberged Mr. Rodenberg. They were eight years ahead of him in this sort of thing. It didn't work with us then, and it will not work with them now.

Stands on His Record.

"The attempt to attack Governor Wilson because of certain statements which he made in writing history and in commenting upon events of history as they appeared to him as historian will fail signally. As one great metropolitan newspaper pointed out, Mr. Rodenberg and his kind are simply 'blowing against the wind.' Governor Wilson is running for president on his record as a public man, and with that record the public is fairly well conversant, and it will continue to learn more as the campaign progresses.

"He is running for president on his record as governor of New Jersey—what he said and did in that capacity rather than what he wrote as a historian, chronicling events and commenting upon them as they appeared to an impartial observer whose duty it is to write of things as they are rather than as they should be or as he would have them.

"Our Republican brethren are entitled to all the thunder they can make out of Governor Wilson's writings. I hope they will read them carefully and thoroughly. They will be able to gain a great deal of valuable information, and when the context is read along with the excerpts which have been taken from his works for the purpose of placing him in a false light I have no fear as to the results. All that is needed is a thorough understanding.

"Ingersoll sought to disprove Bible truths and to assail Holy Writ by the same methods which the Republicans are seeking to assail Governor Wilson."

The average business man has awakened to the fact that it is a good investment to give some of his time to political affairs. This is one of Democracy's best signs of victory.

Perhaps the Republicans, as represented by Taft, are satisfied with the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. But the majority of the voters are not.

More Whiskey And Rum Drunk

The people of the United States produced more whiskey and rum and smoked more cigarettes during the fiscal year 1912 than ever before in the history of the country, according to the preliminary annual report of Royal E. Cabell, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, submitted to Secretary MacVeagh last week. The consumption of whiskey was exceeded only by the year 1907, but beer drinking fell off by a substantial percentage.

The unprecedented smoking of 11,221,627,084 cigarettes, exceeding the record of 1911 by nearly 2,000,000,000, amazed Treasury officials, who were unable to account for the enormous increase.

The consumption of whiskey and rum for 1912 was 1333,77,458 gallons, the nearest approach to the record of 134,081,000 gallons in 1907.

The consumption of beer for 1912 was only 62,108,733 barrels, a decrease of over 1,108,000 barrels as compared with 1911.

No Danger From Telephones

Nearly two years ago the Postmaster General at London became interested in the reports that tuberculosis could be communicated by the use of the telephones, particularly those for public use. In order to confirm or refute such a statement he arranged that a number of them be selected from various places and that they be delivered to a well-known bacteriologist for examination. Special care was taken to obtain instruments that were without the possibility of having been disinfected or even cleaned, and the same care was taken to see that they reached the testing laboratory in the exact condition in which they were removed from public use. They were taken from postoffices, railway depots, meat markets and other places frequented by the public.

The laboratory used is that of St. George's Hospital Medical School, Hyde Park Corner, S. W., and the work was done in the Clinical Investigation Department under the supervision of Dr. H. R. D. Spitta, Superintendent.

Washings were made of the mouthpieces and the whole contents were then injected in guinea pigs. The animals were kept in separate cages under supervision and killed a few weeks later. Exhaustive examinations proved that they were absolutely healthy. From the twenty-one telephones used in the test no tubercle bacilli were found.

From a subsequent series of tests extending February 16 of the present year, and made with instruments used wholly by consumptive patients, the same results were obtained. The tests were made at the Frimley Sanatorium with instruments installed at the bedside of phthisical patients undergoing treatment. They were in use by the patients at regular periods for a number of days just prior to the test.

Tests were also made by the American Government, and like proofs resulted.

From all of these impartial and exhaustive experiments it has been proved beyond question that not the slightest danger of communication of the disease is possible through the medium of the telephone.

Cats Outnumber Human

Beings in Chicago

Chicago contains more cats than human beings, according to Hugo Krause, secretary of the Anti-Cruelty Society. He places the number of homeless cats in the city at one million and the number enjoying the comforts of a home he believes will reach two million. He regards the vagrant cats as a menace to the health of the city, as they live on refuse and carry disease. In his opinion, the city should take measures at once to exterminate these "hobo" cats, and he recommends that the superintendent of the city pound have charge of the work.

Guide to Sequoia and General Grant National Parks

Full information regarding the Sequoia and General Grant National parks, which contain the oldest and largest trees in the world, is contained in a circular just issued by the Department of the Interior. Within these parks are 18 groves of sequoia trees, there being over 12,000 trees exceeding 10 feet in diameter.

In the Giant Forest in the Sequoia National Park the principal trees are General Sherman, 286 feet high and 36 feet in diameter; the Abraham Lincoln, 270 feet high and 31 feet in diameter; and the William McKinley, 291 feet high and 28 feet in diameter. In the General Grant Park the principal trees are the General Grant, 264 feet high and 35 feet in diameter, and the George Washington, 255 feet high and 29 feet in diameter.

These big trees are the oldest living things in the world, 4,000 annual wood rings having been counted on one of the fallen giants in the Sequoia Park. The great pines of the Pacific Coast are old in their fourth or fifth century, when the big trees growing beside them are still in the bloom of youth, as they do not attain prize size and beauty before their fifteen hundredth year or become old in less than 3,000 years.

This circular, which may be obtained free from the Department of the Interior, contains information regarding the means of seeing the park, tables showing distances to the principal points, a tourist map, a list of birds, and the regulations that have been adopted for the protection of the forest.

Organization of a School of Horticulture

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Maryland Agricultural College and Experiment Station, a special School of Horticulture was provided for.

This organization will co-ordinate the extension work in horticulture and greatly increase the staff of instructors in this subject at the College. The plan will enable the work to be done by a higher class of men and make it more permanent, as their services will be more continuous. The teachers in the School of Horticulture will be specialists in the different phases of Horticulture, such as Pomology, Olericulture, Floriculture and Landscape Gardening, and Bush and Vine Fruits. They are to be men who are broadly trained and can act as general inspectors and demonstrators in the State Department. This will give them an opportunity to keep in touch with the broad field of horticulture in all parts of the State, and enable them to teach their subjects with more direct application to the students' needs.

This organization will also enable the Institution to develop each special phase of horticulture in the State, and the people to avail of the help of specialists. The plan provides for an expansion of the demonstration work in the State.

Double-Decked Car Appears

The new stepless double-decked street car which the New York Street Railway is trying out made its first voyage down Broadway last Wednesday. Its progress along that crowded thoroughfare was announced by the blasts of a whistle which sounded like the horn of a Mississippi flatboat. The street railway officials believe that if these cars are a success they will relieve traffic considerably.

The lower part of the car, which is entered by a centre side door, has side seats. The conductor stands in a little wire netting booth opposite the door and collects the fares. He also announces the name or number of the street which the car is approaching, doing this by means of a little electrical contrivance called a megaphone for the benefit of the people on the upper deck. The upper deck is reached by means of a "companionway" at either end.

The car is a convertible "winter and summer" type, and for the benefit of the "gents" it has been announced that smoking will be permitted on the top deck.

Wilt of Tomatoes

In addition to the common leaf blight of tomatoes which is quite common this year, there are two forms of tomato wilt; one caused by bacteria and showing in wilted tips; the other, caused by a soil fungus, in which the leaves turn yellow from the bottom up. These are also prevalent in parts of Maryland this year.

The chief hope in controlling the two latter diseases, is in finding resistant varieties, and in order to do this, specialists of the State Horticultural Department wish to examine as many diseased fields as possible. It will be greatly appreciated if anyone knowing the fields in which a number of plants have died from one of the diseases, will notify the Maryland Agricultural College and Experiment Station, at College Park, Maryland.

Indian Killed On Track

Near Rochelle, Ill., an Indian went to sleep on a railroad track and was killed by the fast express. He paid for his carelessness with his life. Often it is that way when people neglect coughs and colds. Don't risk your life when prompt use of Dr. King's New Discovery will cure them and so prevent a dangerous throat or lung trouble. "It completely cured me, in a short time, of a terrible cough that followed a severe attack of Grip," writes J. R. Watts, Floydada, Tex., "and I regained 15 pounds in weight that I had lost." Quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. 50 cents and $1.00 trial bottle free at Omar A. Jones' drug store.

300 Additional Pages To Print New Laws

The laws of Maryland for the year 1912, now in the hands of the binders, will cover about 1800 pages, or nearly 800 pages more than they did two years ago.

Ever since the Legislature adjourned the State Printer has been at work on the laws. As a sheet was printed a copy was sent to the Law Library in Baltimore for the benefit of the lawyers, as most of the acts go into effect from the date the Governor signs them, though the public does not for months have the opportunity to read them.

Owing to the time required to fold the printed sheets it will be fully two weeks before the delivery of the bound volumes is begun. At that time most of the acts will have been in effect four months. However, the delay is about the same as it has been for many years.

The Trials of A Traveler

"I am a traveling salesman," writes E. E. Young, E. ANNOUNCING a Reduction of prices on all Summer SHOES AT Morris'

Fall shoes have begun to tumble in and down from the shelves must come all summer oxfords and pumps with prices averaging a full fourth lower.

We argue that it is better for us to accept wholesale prices for our remaining summer styles NOW—while there is yet time for the wearer to get lengthy service from them—than it is for us to carry them over until next season and thus stand the losses due to change of styles, etc.

If your best pair of low-shoes are beginning to show signs of wear and are no more worthy to be called your best, make an early call to get the pick.

The scale of prices follows and is applied equally to all summer shoes for men, women and children:
